Continuing to celebrate 75 years

WATER YOU DOING ON THE 23RD OF APRIL?

Assumption Grammar School's 75th anniversary celebrations will reach a dramatic climax on Thursday 23rd April with an extravaganza of music at Belfast's Waterfront Hall.

Students will perform in the prestigious Belfast venue for the second time, providing music to suit all tastes and a spectacular display of Irish dancing.

The show will start at 7:30 pm and will be hosted by former UTV personality Gerry Kelly.

Head of the Music department at the School, Mr. Michael Harrison tells us how hard the school's music department have been working to make this concert one the audience won't forget.

"The girls have been preparing for this concert since Christmas, Students come in to practice at quarter to eight in the morning and some even stay for a couple of hours after school"

Mr. Harrison himself has taken part in one of the school concerts before, playing in the Orchestra in April 2007.

Since starting work at Assumption in October 2008 Mr. Harrison has been amazed by the number of talented students that contribute to the music department.

"I enjoy my work here, there are a couple of hundred girls that take part in musical activities, they are very dedicated students that take great interest in their studies", Mr. Harrison told us.

The Concert has been an annual event in the school from the early 1970's, then the concert would have taken place in the school itself, but due to the growth of the audience the concert has recently moved to a bigger location, The Water front Hall Belfast.

"For the past couple of years there have been large crowds attending these concerts, this year we can only hope that we might achieve a sell out, but we will be happy with a large audience."

Tickets are available at the school at £10 per ticket, and £30 for a family ticket (2 adults and 2 children).

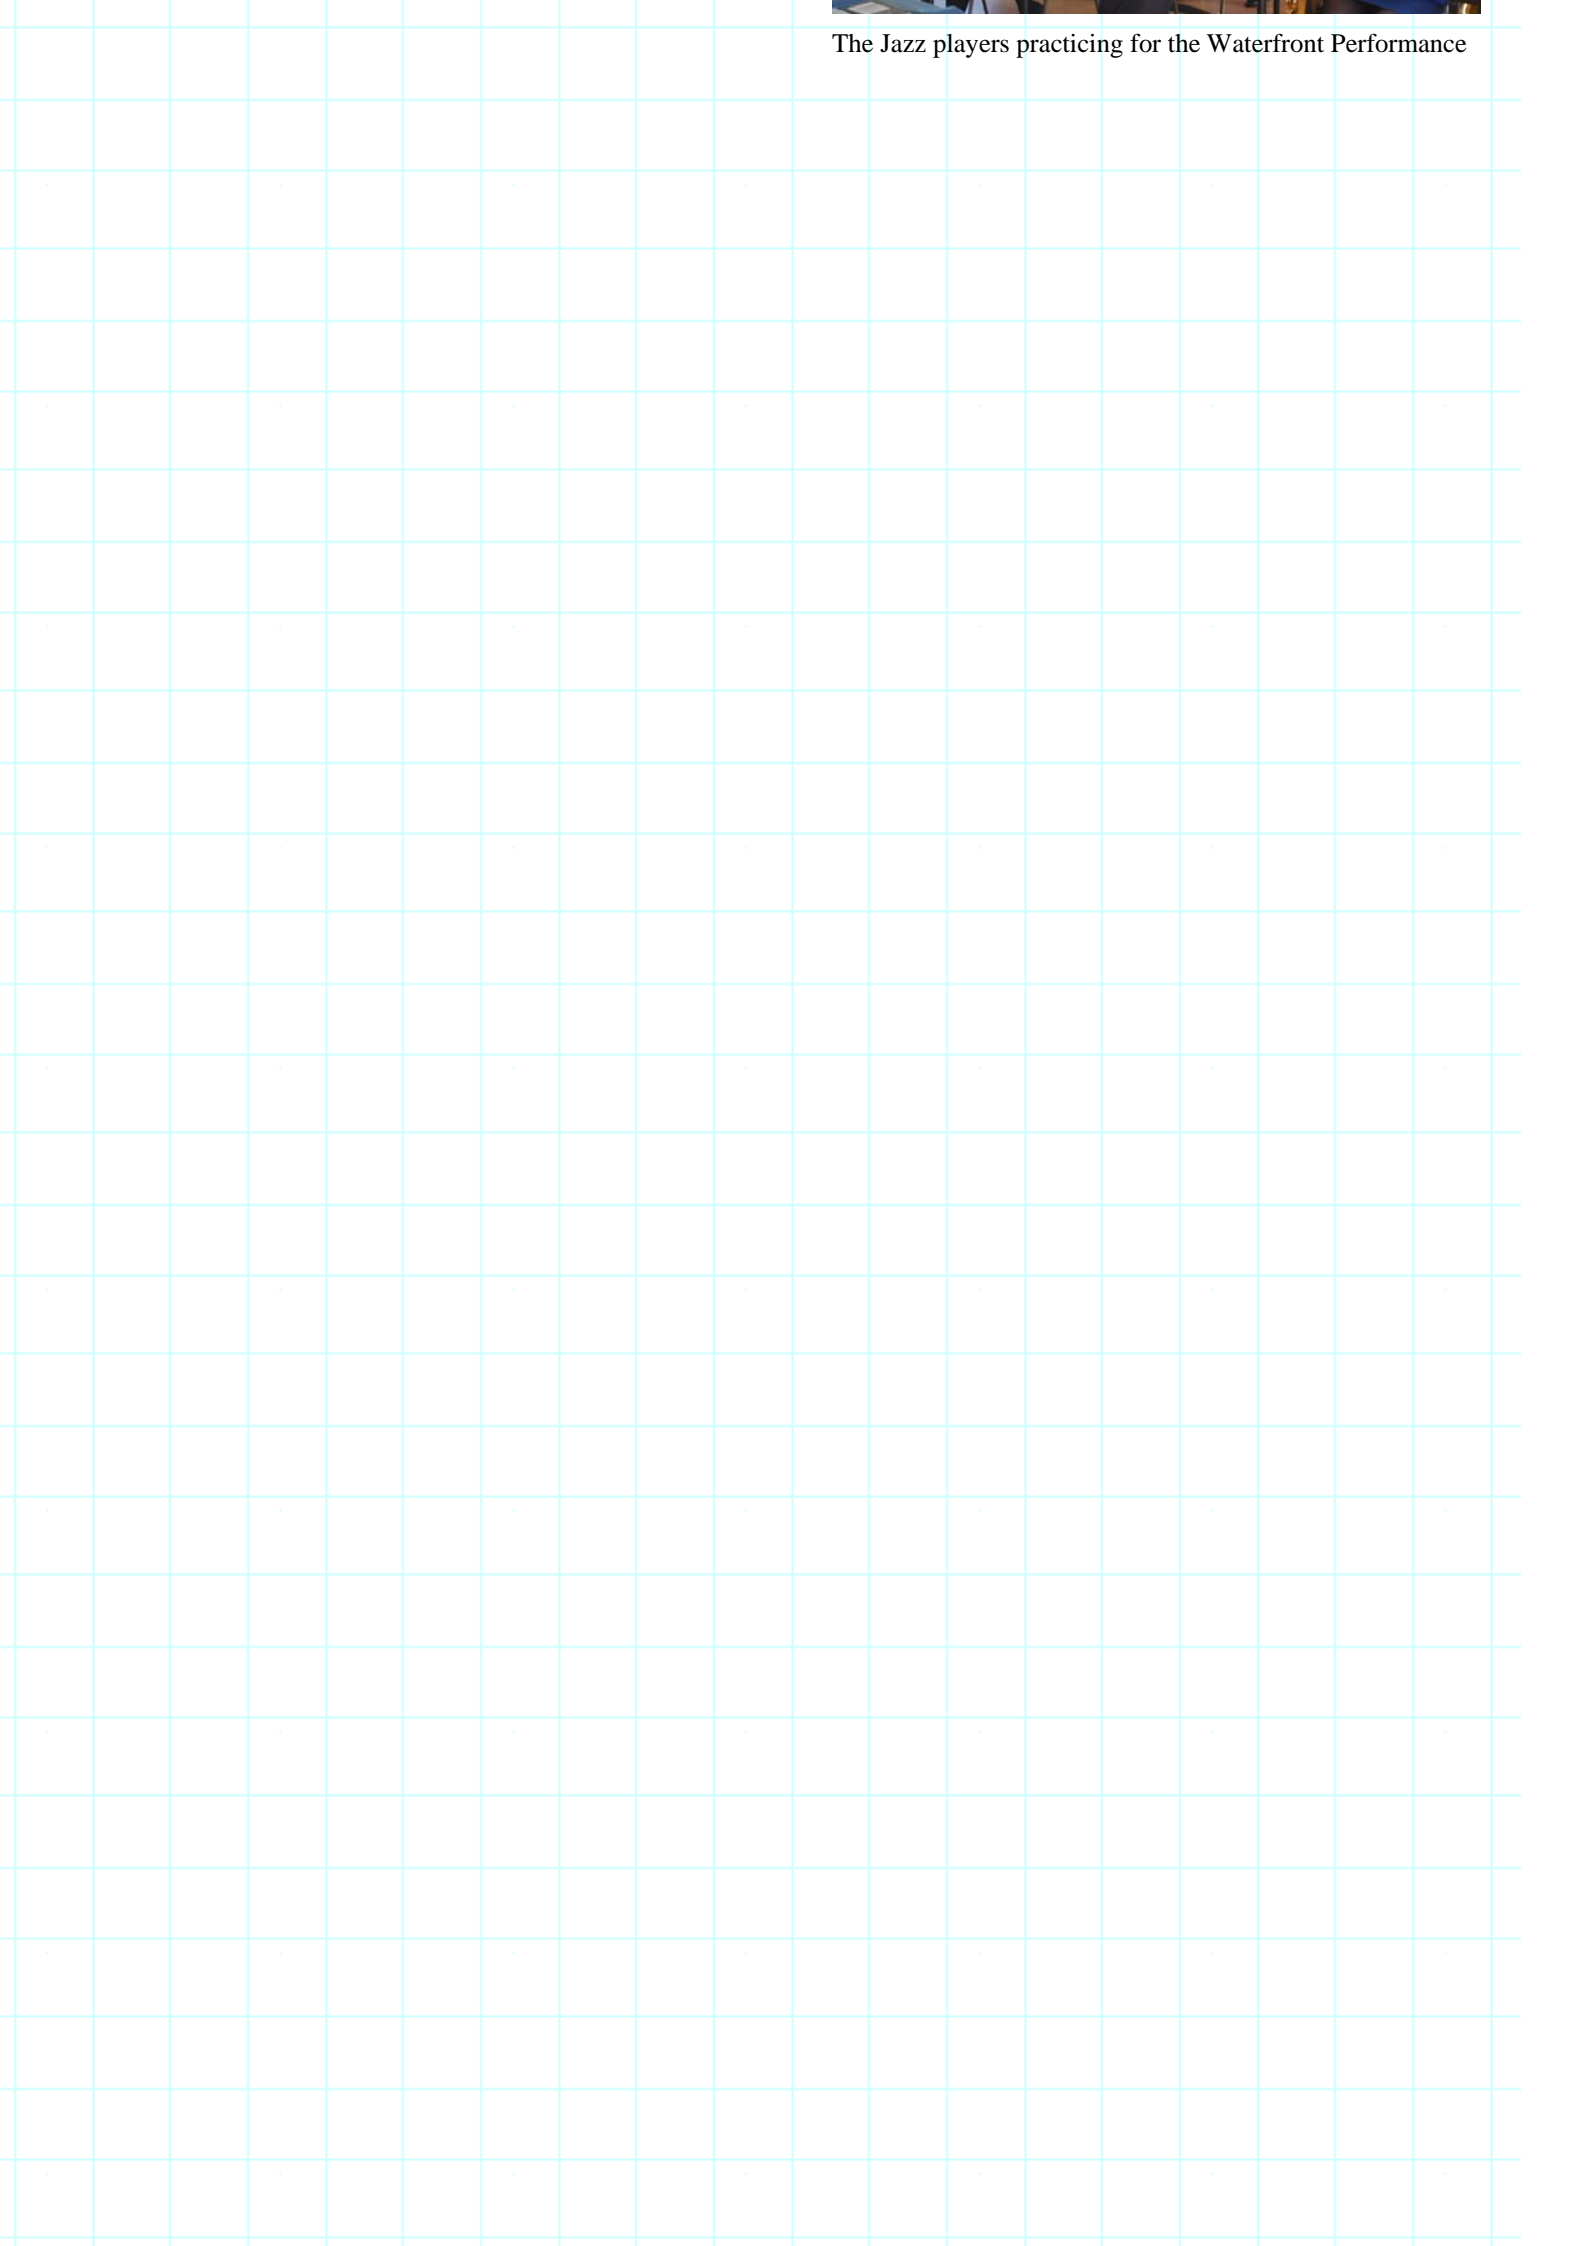

To order your tickets contact the school receptionist on 028 9756 2250.

Book early to avoid disappointment!
